Harris out, Astorian in

New police chief named for Granite City by mayor

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Police Chief Bill Harris voluntarily resigned Tuesday at the request of Mayor Von Dee Cruse. Lt. Col. Bob Astorian was named chief and colonel.

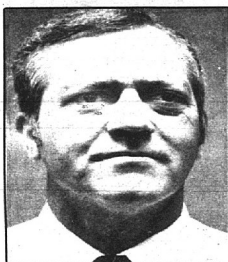

"I've taken this action with a profound sense of personal regret, but with the knowledge that it is a step taken in the best overall interest of our city," Cruse said. He declined to elaborate.

In a prepared statement, Harris said, "I sincerely hope my action will in some way help to heal the divisions within our Police Department and place to rest the continuing controversy concerning my tenure as police chief."

Harris will resume his former rank of lieutenant if he decides to remain with the department. He could not be reached for comment Tuesday afternoon.

Astorian is the right man for a difficult job, Cruse said.

"I think he'll have all the respect of all the good people at the Police Department, and we have a lot of good people over there," Cruse said. "I think his credentials make him probably the most qualified person in Madison County ... He's the person that can pull this department together."

Harris was hounded by two problems during his final weeks as chief: allegations by 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney and a 34-0 "no confidence" vote from police union members.

Harris is accused by Partney of acting improperly while chief. The accusation against Harris, and more allegations directed at other Police Department members, will be presented to the Division of Criminal Investigation at Partney's request, Harris has said he welcomes an investigation.

"I really believe our department over there has got such a bad morale problem ... new leadership is what it's going to take to resolve the problem," Partney said Monday during a press conference called to discuss another police matter.

Police union members requested Harris' resignation or removal after Harris told city officials the names of four policemen suspected of using illegal drugs. Naming the officers in public would violate police rules.

While Harris served as chief, the Police Department dealt with five murders, including the double slaying of Carl and Susan Hoffman. Each incident resulted in an arrest, and in those cases that are no longer pending, the state won convictions.

Harris, 47, a 22-year veteran of the department, started May 1, 1984, as a patrolman. In December 1974 he became a detective and in December 1976 he was named patrol division sergeant. On March 23, 1983, Harris was promoted to lieutenant and remained at that rank until being named chief by Cruse on May 7, 1985.

Bob Astorian

Astorian graduated from the FBI National Academy at Quantico, Va., and joined the department in May 1962. He was named detective in 1973 and was promoted to sergeant in 1974. He was named lieutenant in May 1977 and captain in September 1977. He became a lieutenant colonel on April 1, 1983. In December 1985, he won the endorsement for sheriff from the Madison County Democratic Party's central committee, but lost in the 1986 primary.

No decision reached in Nameoki suit

By Bill Bagby

NAMEOKI TOWNSHIP — No decision in the challenge from Nameoki Township to Granite City's annexation of Granite City Steel's coke plant was reached Friday.

A preliminary hearing was held in Edwardsville before Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson to determine whether he would allow the township's challenge to continue by hearing the case.

Due to a legal technicality, the suit was filed by Township Supervisor Harry Bringer as an individual on behalf of the township.

Recycling company protests EPA fines

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A local lead recycling company has called federal environmental fines issued last week "inappropriate, excessive and not justified."

The statement was issued by Jim Stack Jr., general manager of St. Louis Lead Recyclers, of 1500 State St.

St. Louis Lead was fined $88,750 by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency last week for, in part, not informing the EPA of a waste pile making potentially hazardous lead waste.

The EPA cited six complaints against the company that the agency said violated the Federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act.

St. Louis Lead on Thursday requested a hearing and an "informal settlement conference" with the EPA's regional office in Chicago to discuss the fines, according to the company's statement.

The company said the waste on its property comes from processing about 45,000 tons of lead waste from a nearby, 225,000 ton lead waste pile created by another company. Both waste piles contain materials from discarded batteries. Lead from the large pile, which is not owned by St. Louis Lead, has been found in the area's soil and poses potential health risk to nearby residents, said a spokesman for the EPA.

Stack said the fines were unjustified because the company's lead recycling process has never had lead content from the large pile.

"I am convinced this plant is, and could be in the future, an integral part of the solution to the problems in this community caused by the presence of excessive amounts of lead," Stack said. He said St. Louis Lead's process has been cited by the EPA in the past as a way to handle national lead pollution problems.

The company has been processing the waste since 1981, according to the statement. Stack said the company would not comment further on the fines in order not to jeopardize upcoming discussions with the EPA.

In its complaint against St. Louis Lead, the EPA said the company will be required to close the pile, sample soil and ground water, and remove or decontaminate polluted soil or ground water.

Partney says tape shows plan to 'get' him

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — In a taped statement to 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, Patrolman Mike Murgie alleges he was asked to help "get" Partney.

On the tape, played Monday at a press conference called by Partney, Murgie states that on April 26 he met with Assistant City Attorney John Hopkins and the following was said:

"First of all, he (Hopkins) said, 'You know, we're not fools about this, or something to that effect. Dan Partney is, you know, (Mayor) Von Dee's main contender for the next election,' and that they want to be able to get Danny Partney out of there so he would not be able to run for the election, something to that effect."

Murgie's statements are inaccurate, Hopkins said Monday evening.

"It's untrue," Hopkins said. "I cannot recall specifically what I said to officer Murgie but I know I never said anything like that. I don't believe it."

Hopkins confirmed talking to Murgie about the patrolman's report of April 20 in which Murgie states Partney tried to get a ticket fixed on April 17. The ticket had been issued that day to District 9 School Board member David Partney, Dan Partney's brother. David Partney was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and later convicted, but the decision is being appealed.

Concerning the allegation that Hopkins wanted to knock Dan Partney, who is undeclared, out of the 1989 race for mayor, Hopkins said there was no such attempt.

"I don't believe Danny Partney is a rival to Von Dee," Hopkins said. "Von Dee has political rivals, but I don't think Danny is one of them. I don't think he has the credentials."

On tape, Murgie alleges Hopkins made promises in exchange for Murgie pursuing a charge similar to assault against Partney. The assault charge involves Murgie's April 20 report in which he alleges Partney threatened "a major shake-up and shame brought onto the department" if the DUI wasn't dropped.

Murgie on tape made the following statement regarding Hopkins' alleged promises: "At that point, Mr. Hopkins then told me he had spoken with the mayor, and the mayor guaranteed me that if I went through with what they wanted, for signing complaints, that I would be guaranteed that there would be three new police commissioners, and that if any way Danny tried to attack me in the newspaper, as far as my credibility, they would make the appropriate statements."

Hopkins said he made one promise to Murgie: "The promise that I recall making to Mr. Murgie was that if he wanted to sign a complaint that there would be prosecution."

When the tape was reportedly made, July 3, there were two newly appointed members of the Fire and Police Commission. Partney had to resign because he was elected alderman on April 7 and the offices are incompatible. Another commissioner, Bob Barton, was not reappointed by Cruse. The third commissioner, Joe Williams, still serves. Williams was asked to resign by Cruse, but Williams refused.

The allegation made by Murgie in the April 20 police report that Partney tried to fix a DUI ticket "isn't changed by the tape," Hopkins said.

"We believe that the officer would make a true report and Partney would not lie on his report," Hopkins said.

Partney termed Murgie's report, released last week by City Attorney Mark Goldenberg, as "some more of their slanderous and political intentions against myself."

Reviews and previews

Taxpayers give to research fund

State taxpayers have contributed $165,839 through the 1986 state income-tax checkoff program to the Alzheimer's Disease Research Fund, $50,000 more than was collected from 1985 tax returns. Illinois is the only state to fund Alzheimer's research through an income-tax check-off. "Funds from the 1986 checkoff will be served, as were the funds from the 1985 checkoff, for grants to support research in Alzheimer's Disease," said State Health Director Dr. Bernard J. Turnock. Grants are awarded in two categories: general research, and early research for those who plan to pursue careers specializing in Alzheimer's disease and related disorders.

Portion of Maryville Road closed

Maryville Road is closed to traffic at the railroad tracks west of Illinois 203 until 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The closure is necessary to allow reconstruction of the crossing of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Western Railway Co. track.

"We need to let the public see the current allegations against the Police Department in the proper perspective," said Granite City Attorney Mark Goldenberg, who released a police report Friday that alleges retaliation against the department for the April 17 arrest of David Partney. Alderman Dan Partney called the report an attack meant to discredit him.

Bankers feed at the food-stamp trough

WASHINGTON — The classic food-stamp ripoff is the possibly apocryphal chisel who used the stamps illegally to buy vodka instead of food. But federal investigators have now uncovered a gigantic food-stamp fraud that involves bankers and bureaucrats, not thirsty welfare recipients.

According to an Agriculture Department inspector general's report obtained by our reporter Kevin Talley, carelessness, corruption or incompetence by local banks, Federal Reserve banks and the Department's Food and Nutrition Service have cost the taxpayers millions of dollars. Here's how:

The feds issue food stamps to the needy, who spend them at their supermarket for market-basket necessities. The retailers turn them in to their local banks for redemption, and the local banks send them along to their Federal Reserve bank for cash.

Despite the opportunity for fraud in this chain of reimbursement, the trading stamps and Nutrition Service apparently has relied on an honor system to run the program at the bank level. The inspector general listed some examples of the agency's misplaced faith in the banker's efficiency:

• During one recent six-month period, local banks apparently collected more than $20 million for non-existent food stamps. This represented the difference between the amount of food stamps the banks reported taking in and the amount they were reimbursed by the Federal Reserve banks. Sloppy bookkeeping by the Food and Nutrition Service made it impossible to tell how much of the $202 million involved deliberate fraud.

• The possibility that new color-copying machines could open the way to widespread counterfeiting of stamps was shrugged off by agency officials, who told the investigators the "anti-fraud" problem with counterfeiting in the future because counterfeiting in the past has been nonexistent. This head-in-the-sand attitude wasn't even supported by the facts. Secret Service experts told the inspector general that food-stamp forgeries have increased dramatically in recent years. And a copy-machine company informed the auditors that food stamps "can be duplicated easily and accurately."

• Changing the method of counting $5 and $10 food stamps could save an estimated $2 million a year.

• Private contractors aren't allowed to bid on destruction of used food stamps. Federal Reserve banks are paid $12 million a year to do it.

• "Theft, loss or misappropriation" of food stamps can be neither ruled out nor proven, because the FNS doesn't keep close enough track of the Federal Reserve banks.

The agency's $2 million bank-monitoring system was given "inaccurate and incomplete" information — or none at all. Since the monitoring system doesn't work, the inspector general asked a reasonable question: "Why have the stamps?" Footnote: In a response to the audit, FNS administrator Robert Leard acknowledged the need for a major redesign of the food-stamp redemption system. He later resigned, but said it had absolutely nothing to do with the inspector general's report. The agency says it is taking steps to meet the inspector general's criticism.

REWARDING ENTERPRISE

The provision of private, humanitarian aid to Nicaraguan refugees in Honduras has been rewarding for a Louisiana state legislator and his wife. According to Internal Revenue Service documents, the humanitarian aid organization Friends of the Americas paid its founder and chairman, Louis "Woody" Jenkins $88,500 in 1985. His wife, Diane, was paid $50,000 that year as executive director of the tax-exempt operation.

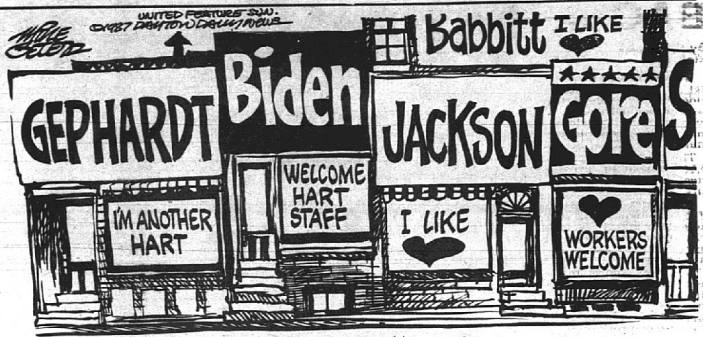

Woody Jenkins, a state representative, said his "association management company," the Great Oaks Co., actually received the $88,500 in return for management and fundraising services. He is listed as the company's sole proprietor. The money paid to his wife, Jenkins said, was a "retainer." The Great Oaks Co. was also compensated $42,528 "for all out-of-pocket expenses incurred in fulfilling its responsibilities" to Friends of the Americas in 1985, according to IRS documents.

BUSINESS FIRST — The U.S. government has spent millions in recent years to support rebels fighting the Marxist regime in Angola at the same time it has given that regime a multi-million-dollar break on its oil exports to this country. Angola is officially designated a "Most Favored Nation," which means it can sell oil here at the same low duties as non-communist countries.

An amendment to the Senate trade bill would eliminate Angola's Most Favored Nation status.

Cencom still making no friends.

To the editor:

While it is true that someone from Cencom finally contacted me, and for that I was extremely grateful, I still think that the Cencom Co. is a thoughtless and uncaring company.

First, I did not have a PD-3 hooked up. Why bother, when, after spending so much money on a VCR and on tapes, I will not be able to do multiple programming between premium and non-premium channels.

Secondly, I and several others I know, were lied to at the temporary cable office here in Granite City. When we stopped there to pick up our PD-3s, we were told to put our names and addresses on a list, that in "a week or two" someone would come out to our homes and "fix us up." When a service man finally came out to my house, he said that, as far as he knew, there had never been such a list, that the people in the temporary office were just saying that to get rid of us.

Thirdly, only last week I tried to call all of Cencom's phone numbers, only to constantly get the same old busy signals that I've always gotten when I tried to contact anyone in your offices. Does the fact that no one can get a call through to Cencom mean anything to you?

Also, I cannot understand why Cencom went ahead and changed their cable channels without checking to make certain that all of their customers were taken care of. Didn't Cen-com have a list of people who subscribed to their premium channels?

As far as I am concerned, Cencom still has these problems:

1. Customers cannot do multiple VCR programming between premium and non-premium channels.

2. Lack of telephone/personnel contact with customers.

3. A basic lack of concern for their customers — Cencom did not try to contact customers who were receiving premium channels. Cencom just went ahead and changed the cable channels, anyway.

If there was any way I could do it, I would change back to Southwestern Cable Co.

BAC's market good, not great

By Bill Bagby
Staff Writer

GRANITE CITY — The market for educational services provided by Belleville Area College is good, but not great, according to a community needs assessment study prepared by Fleishman-Hillard Inc. of St. Louis.

The study was presented to BAC's Board of Trustees at a meeting July 15 at the Granite City Campus.

The report contains the views of 257 residents and 269 former students living in the college district. Interviews were also conducted with 15 major employers in the district.

The study shows that 40 percent of the residents interviewed, who have never attended BAC, are "not at all" interested in pursuing any type of course or program at BAC.

Almost one in four of the district's 335,000 residents are 60 years old or older. The study calls this a "significant negative finding" because these people are less likely to return to college.

Seven percent of the district's adults are involved in post-high school education, the study indicates. This is half the national average of 14 percent.

BAC's name recognition is high, the study says, but one in three residents does not know what the college offers.

"While most people generally know Belleville Area College exists, only a minority know specifically who Belleville Area College serves and how it functions," the study states.

The study shows that personal interest courses appeal to the biggest number of former students and residents. These courses are non-credit, recreational classes, said Kathy O'Dell, BAC's community relations director.

Enrollment potential for these classes is 130,000 of the 335,000 district residents. Job-related courses are second in popularity, with a market estimated at 120,300.

The study shows that former BAC students are very interested in taking further courses and represent a significant market segment.

"Most former Belleville Area College students found the education they received at the college useful in their job-occupation and their personal life," according to the study.

The study recommends that BAC promote personal interest and job-related courses, offer its most popular courses at all three campuses despite enrollment, stress availability of financial aid programs, consider more emphasis on direct mail and publicity in newspapers, publish the district newsletter more often, publicize university transfer programs and telecourses, continue visiting high schools and recruiting students, continue the peer advisor program, and inform residents about the availability of child care and study courses.

Chancellor Bruce Wissore said the study showed that the district was in a relatively "cold market" for enrollment. From 1967-83, Wissore said, BAC's increase in enrollment was 2 percent less than the state's level of enrollment increase.

The study also showed that distance is a barrier, he said. "Every mile you get away from the campus, fewer and fewer people come," Wissore said.

Trustees authorized the study in February as a way to explore potential for enrollment growth. O'Dell said. The study cost BAC about $35,000, she said.

Trustee Elizabeth Jenner, who voted not to authorize the study, suggested the trustees discuss the study at the board's September study session because copies of it were just received Wednesday.

County equalization at 1.0

Madison County has been issued a final property assessment equalization factor of one according to Roger Sweet, Illinois Department of Revenue director.

The property assessment equalization factor, often called the "multiplier," is the method used to achieve uniform property assessments among counties, as required by law, according to the Illinois Department of Revenue. This equalization is particularly important because some of the state's 6,000 local taxing districts overlap into two or more counties. If there was no equalization among counties, substantial inequities among taxpayers with comparable properties would result, according to IDR.

Under a law passed in 1975, property in Illinois should be assessed at 33.33 percent of its market value. Farm property is assessed differently, with farm homesteads and dwellings subject to regular assessing and equalization procedures, but with farmland assessed at one-third of its agricultural economic value. Farm land is not subject to the state equalization factor.

Assessments in Madison County are at 33.33 percent of market value, based on sales of properties in 1983, 1984 and 1985. The equalization factor being assigned is for 1986 taxes, payable in 1987. Last year's equalization factor for the county was one.

The final assessment equalization factor was issued after a public hearing on the tentative factor. The tentative factor issued in January 1987 was

The equalization factor is determined annually for each county by comparing the price of individual properties sold over the past three years to the assessed value placed on those properties by the county supervisor of assessments.

If this three-year average level of assessment is one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be one. If the average level of assessment is greater than one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be less than one. And if the average level of assessment is less than one-third of market value, the equalization factor will be greater than one.

A change in the equalization factor does not mean total tax bills will increase or decrease.

7 seeking school posts

GRANITE CITY — Petitions for four seats on the Granite City School Board were taken out by seven persons for the upcoming November election.

Available are three four-year seats and one two-year seat. Incumbent board members Dewey Melton and Kelly Hogan and board member and secretary Jo Ann Macios have taken ballot petitions, as of July 17, along with former 7th Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, Granite City firefighter Robert Bell, Beverly Schutzenhofer and Marty LeVault. LeVault unsuccessfully ran for Madison County Sheriff in the 1986 primary election.

Terms of board members Melton, Hogan and David Partney expire in November. Partney has not taken out a petition.

Petitions are available at the board office, 20th and Adams streets. The first day to file is Aug. 17. The last day to file is Aug. 24 before 5 p.m.

The last day for a candidate who has submitted petitions for both full and partial terms to withdraw is Aug. 29. The last day candidates can withdraw nominating petitions is Sept. 3.

Ballot positions for candidates who filed simultaneously at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 17 will be determined by a public drawing of names at 4 p.m. Sept. 2 at the board office.

The election is Nov. 3.

Smoking banned at City Council meetings

MADISON — The ban of smoking at council meetings, the preparation of bids for the purchase of a new sewer machine and repairs to a lift station were discussed by the City Council last week.

A ban on smoking in the council chambers during council meetings was approved by all but one alderman. Third Ward Alderman Don Wilson voted no. Second Ward Alderman John Hamm made a motion to advertise for bids for a new sewer machine. The mayor suggested they table the motion until the finance committee could meet to set a time limit on bid acceptance.

Second Ward Alderman Ron Grzywacz emphasized that the bid should be prepared immediately because the city is in desperate need of the machine.

The city will begin soliciting bids for work on a lift station in the Maerks Industrial Park, because a mutually agreeable package with Southwest Steel and another one with Kreider Truck Service Inc. involving easement areas have been arranged.

Funds for the project will come from Community Development. When the project is completed, it will provide adequate drainage for the industrial park, a goal for four years, the mayor said.

The mayor extended congratulations to Dorothy Hinson of Madison who was installed as state president of the Illinois American Legion Auxiliary on July 11. She is the first statewide auxiliary president to come from the Venice-Madison American Legion Unit 307.

Aldermen hire, take job back

MADISON — A motion approved July 14 at a regular council session to hire a former Madison resident as a working foreman on the street department was rescinded last Thursday at a special meeting of the council.

Bud Caffrey, of 167 Sandy Shore Lane, Arlington, a former Madison street department worker from August 1974 to March 79 and former volunteer firefighter, was hired Tuesday following a motion made by 3rd Ward Alderman John Hamm. The motion had passed four to three.

On Thursday, Hamm backed a motion to rescind Caffrey's hiring while the city attorney investigates the question of hiring a non-resident. The Thursday vote followed a heated debate between Ham and 4th Ward Alderman Norris Horton.

Horton contended that hiring someone from outside the city is in violation of state statutes. Hamm said, in his opinion, it is legal. He said he could not find a city ordinance that stated a city employee must be a resident.

Hamm said he hopes the matter was been tabled only temporarily and will be brought up again at the next council session after the exact state and city codes for hiring city employees is explained to the council.

Hamm said, "I did not want to do this (rescind the motion) because Caffrey formerly worked for the street department and is familiar with the sewer system in Madison and could be an asset to the department and the city."

"I still want to hire people from Madison whenever possible, but for the good of the city I think it is our duty to select and hire the best qualified people. We would not have to take time to train this man, so he could begin work with no problem," Hamm said.

All six aldermen present Thursday, including Hamm and Horton, voted to rescind the motion to hire. Others were Charles Rockett, 4th Ward; Richard Asperger and Don Wilson, both of the 3rd Ward; and Ron Grzywacz, 2nd Ward. Not present were 1st Ward Aldermen Andy Economy and James Hill-

Police Repeat-DUI, truck safety bills praised

SPRINGFIELD — Tougher penalties for repeat drunk driving offenders, improved access to parking spaces for the disabled, and truck driver safety measures were among key bills sought by Secretary of State Jim Edgar and passed by the General Assembly this year.

Also approved was a ban on fake identification cards to discourage underage drinking and driving.

"Members of the legislature are to be commended for acting to improve highway safety and give people who are disabled easier access to public places," Edgar said.

Bills supported by the secretary of state and passed by the General Assembly include:

• Repeat drunk driving — House Bill 2700 would require a minimum three-year driver license revocation for two DUI convictions within a 20-year period and a six-year revocation for three or more convictions.

Existing law provides a one-year revocation regardless of the number of convictions.

"I was particularly pleased with passage of tougher penalties for repeat drunk driving. By repeating his offense, a drunk driver shows that the current penalty is an insufficient deterrent," Edgar said.

False ID's — House Bill 2699 would prohibit private vendors from using the design criteria for Illinois driver licenses to produce phony ID cards. Cards resembling the size, color or photo location of genuine Illinois licenses would be banned. The penalty would be increased to a Class A misdemeanor, punishable by up to one year in prison.

"Many who manufacture and sell false ID cards are helping young people purchase alcohol illegally. Too often that leads to teen drinking and driving," Edgar said.

• Handicapped parking — Under Senate Bill 632, handicapped parking spaces would be widened to 16 feet and marked by posted signs carrying the phrase "$50 fine" beneath the international disabled symbol.

"Although the handicapped parking law is a good one, these changes will help ensure that special parking spaces are used only by those who actually need them," Edgar said.

• Truck safety — Implementing the federal Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986, House Bill 2208 would specify that truck drivers and other commercial drivers have only one driver license, report all traffic violations to the secretary of state within 30 days, and provide a complete driving history to potential employers.

The bill also states that employers shall not allow an unqualified employee to operate a commercial vehicle. The bill was recommended by Edgar's Task Force on Truck Safety.

"All Illinois motorists should be confident that only qualified truck drivers use the state's highway system," he said. "With this new law, we hope dangerous or unqualified drivers will be taken off the road."

Traffic deaths increase

Motor vehicle occupant deaths for June totaled 83, an increase from the five-year, pre-seat belt law average of 76 fatalities, according to provisional figures released by the Illinois Department of Transportation and State Police.

The two-year average for June under the seat belt law is 86 fatalities compared to the 76 death average in June for the five years (1980-84) before the law, a 13.2 percent increase.

Overall fatalities for June totaled 133 as a result of 119 accidents. This is an increase of 12.7 percent from the 118 provisional deaths in June 1986. Included in the June totals are 22 pedestrians killed in 22 accidents, 21 persons killed in 20 accidents involving motorcycles, seven bicyclists killed in seven accidents, and five persons killed in four railroad crossing accidents.

The provisional total of 704 deaths for six months of 1987 is an increase of 10.5 percent from the 637 deaths for the same period of 1986.

In the five-county area covered by District 11, there were 13 traffic fatalities during June. Bond County had none; Clinton County, one; Madison County, six; Monroe County, two; and St. Clair County, four.

Capt. Bobby L. Henry Sr., Illinois State Police commander of District 11, stated many lives could be saved by drivers and passengers using safety belts.

Alton murder victim had a hard life,' says aunt

Steven Herrod's short, troubled life ended quietly Monday when he died from a gunshot wound he suffered two months ago in a bizarre fight on Sullivan Drive in Alton.

Herrod, 33, died early Monday at St. Louis University Medical Center, where he lay for almost six weeks.

He was the first Alton murder victim of 1987, following a record-tying year in 1986 with eight murders.

Herrod was shot in the abdomen on May 15 during a scuffle in a Sullivan Drive apartment.

Police detectives are still puzzled over conflicting stories about that night.

Herrod told police at the time the shooting that he was sitting in a friend's apartment at about 1:30 a.m. when Archie Egan, 34, of Alton, walked into the apartment and pulled a gun.

When Herrod tried to grab the gun, he was shot during the struggle, he said.

Vann suffered two minor gunshot wounds, but he told police he was a bystander to a gunfight in the apartment.

Officers returned to the apartment that night, but found the apartment dark and locked up.

Several neighbors awake at the time said they saw and heard nothing, according to reports.

Lt. Robert Lahlein, chief of detectives, said detectives never stopped working on the open investigation, but that Herrod's death would "add another dimension to the investigation, of course."

This angers Herrod's aunt, Pearl Thomas, of Venice, who helped raise Herrod after his parents died years ago.

"He suffered so much," she said. "And I'm angry that they didn't get the man who killed him."

Herrod never had a job and was not very happy, Thomas said.

"He had a hard life, he did," she said. "He would come see me a lot when he was feeling low and we would just sit on the floor and talk. And when he left, he'd feel a lot better."

Herrod lived in Alton since his birth. He attended Alton High School, where he thrived on playing basketball and football.

Man faces charge of home invasion

Granite City — Roger L. Tipton, 22, of 3 Queensbury Court, was arrested July 10 at the Madison County Probation Office and charged with home invasion.

Tipton is being held in the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville on a $100,000 bond.

A felony warrant was issued through the Madison County State's Attorney's Office in Edwardsville.

Tipton is alleged to be the same man who forced his way into the home of a Granite City woman in the early morning hours of July 4. The man's face and head were masked with a nylon stocking and hood.

The man held a knife and forced the woman upstairs. He also demanded that she remove her clothing.

The woman, who is in her middle 20s, resisted and the assailant fled from the residence.

A general description of the intruder's appearance and clothing was given police.

Trial lawyers uphold tradition

Clarence Darrow, perhaps the foremost American attorney to plead for the defense was a plain man whose brooding eyes indicated he knew well the pain and suffering of others.

Best known for his defense of John Scopes, a Tennessee high school teacher who broke a state law in 1925 by presenting the Darwinian theory of evolution, Darrow thrived on controversial cases.

He won the acquittal of a radical labor leader for the assassination of a former Idaho governor, and he saved two convicted murderers from the death penalty.

"I may hate the sin but never a sinner," Darrow once said — a statement that to Boyce Holleman, a Gulfport, Miss., attorney, just about sums up our legal system, which affords everyone a fair trial, and it may well be the trial lawyer's credo.

Darrow was a superb debater and his courtroom skills made him both a folk hero and a legend. And yet all trial lawyers — the attorneys who regularly do battle before juries in courtrooms — are the inheritors of a tradition of oral rhetoric, and for the most part they are accomplished storytellers.

Like the traditional raconteur, the trial lawyer must be able to construct a basic plot, present the scenes with style, authority and credibility and, most importantly, appeal to audiences to believe in the tales they tell.

Indeed, trial lawyers are probably the only professionals in the United States today who make their living telling stories, face to face, to a dozen people.

While students learn jurisprudence in law school, trial lawyers often learn their craft in the courtroom observing the more proficient practitioners firsthand.

Novices also attend trial advocacy problems and workshops, which simulate trial settings. As a sign of professional responsibility, many eminent attorneys donate time to such programs, demonstrating their distinct approaches to the craft.

It's this on-the-job training that allows the folk tradition of trial law, that is, storytelling, to be passed along from generation to generation.

The skills and lore of trial lawyers were a major focus of the Smithsonian Institution's 20th annual Festival of American Folklife in 1986. Previous festivals have explored the cultural traditions of other varied professions such as plumbing, bartending and stone carving, but to many, featuring the lawyers came as an intriguing surprise.

At least one out of 10 attorneys in this country is a trial lawyer. According to the Association of Trial Lawyers of America, there are about 600,000 lawyers in the United States and 6,000 are members of the association.

For attorneys who regularly venture before juries, developing and refining a distinctive, personal courtroom manner is critical. There is no single image of stylistic excellence within the profession.

CLARENCE DARROW, one of the nation's most admired and respected trial lawyers, was known for his verbal pyrotechnics in the courtroom. "I may hate the sin but never the sinner," Darrow said in defending the accused.

One Folklife Festival participant, Judge Charles Becton of Raleigh, N.C. — considered by many to be the best trial lawyer in North Carolina and a magnificent performer — offers this advice to would-be trial lawyers: "Don't imitate another's style. But borrow or steal every good technique or style of delivery and adapt it to your own style."

Many trial lawyers direct their delivery and style not only toward the juries, but to their opponents as well.

Diana Marshall, a Houston defense attorney, has developed a guileful manner in dealing with male attorneys who choose to underestimate her. She admits she's "won a few cases by planting the notion that little old me wouldn't really take a case all the way to trial" without first trying to settle out of court. Then, she confesses, she'll spend an entire weekend preparing for trial while opposing counsel goes to the golf course.

Style may impress a jury but it's been known to backfire. New York City prosecutor Jo Ann Harris tells about one of her cases in which a man had been accused of stealing Social Security checks and "compelling" the recipients to endorse the checks so he could cash them.

The defense counsel was "from the old school. He was rambunctious, loud and emotional in his cross-examination of government witnesses and during his opening and closing statements to the jury." The jury convicted his client.

Ironically, after the trial, the jurors surrounded the defense attorney and lavished him with praise. Harris even overheard one juror say, "If I ever get into trouble for anything serious, I'll be sure to call you." Harris explains that while everyone likes to be entertained, the jurors in this particular case had no difficulty making the distinction between "flash" and the facts.

Like the storyteller in traditional folk societies, trial lawyers size up their audiences to determine a likely reaction. But there's considerable sensitivity within the profession that jurors may feel lawyers are merely "acting." So the trial lawyer attempts to present to the jurors an image with which they can identify.

Appealing to regional pride is one tactic. Take criminal lawyer Bobby Lee Cook from the north-west Georgia hill country. New prosecutors from outside Cook's territory are warned that Cook will approach one of them before a trial, brimming with what appears to be good will and curiosity, asking where the newcomers are from and where he went to school.

The unwary counselor is likely to hear Cook telling the jury moments later: "Now here we have a young man, all the way from Brooklyn, a graduate of NYU, come down here to Georgia to tell us how to practice law."

Still, at the heart of any trial is the truth. And the way trial lawyers get to the truth is by asking questions — lots of them. This method in particular, according to San Francisco lawyer James Brosnahan, is steeped in rich tradition and lore. Brosnahan cites the Roman rhetorician Quintilian who, early in the first century, wrote four how-to volumes on asking questions.

The way in which the questions are posed is something the trial lawyer learns mainly

All employers affected by new immigration law

The Immigration Reform and Control Act (IRCA), signed by President Reagan in 1986, institutes some of the most sweeping changes ever made in immigration law in this country.

The law, which affects every employer and worker in America, is the first federal law ever to make it illegal for employers to knowingly hire an illegal alien. It also requires all employees, even U.S. citizens, to present proof of authorization to work when they begin new jobs. Finally, it offers millions of illegal aliens an opportunity for amnesty.

Hiring Restrictions
Although it has in the past been illegal for undocumented aliens to work in the United States, it has not, until now, been unlawful for employers to hire these aliens. With the passage of the new immigration law, employers will now be subject to civil fines and possibly criminal fines and imprisonment if they "knowingly hire, recruit or refer for a fee the unauthorized aliens.

Civil and criminal penalties may also be imposed if an employer learns that the person he hired is, in fact, not authorized to work, and he continues to employ that person.

Employers will also be liable if they continue to employ aliens with temporary work authorizations who were hired after the law was passed but whose authorizations have expired.

However, employers will not face penalties for continuing to employ illegal aliens who were hired before the bill was passed. Also, until Sept. 1, employers may hire illegal aliens who are eligible for amnesty. In such a case, the alien must state that he/she has already applied or intends to apply for amnesty and the employer simply has to make a notation to that effect on the Form I-9 itself.

Penalties Possible

The law imposes penalties for knowingly hiring or continuing to employ persons hired after Nov. 6, 1986, who are not authorized to work in the U.S. An employer will be fined between $250 and $2,000 per alien for a first offense; $2,000 to $5,000 for a second offense, and between $3,000 and $10,000 for subsequent offenses. For a "pattern or practice" of violations an employer could face criminal penalties up to a $3,000 fine per alien and six months in prison.

Verification Procedures

Employers must abide by four specific verification procedures. First, they must check the documents presented by those hired as proof of their identity as well as of their authorization to work in the U.S. Identity documents are a driver's license, a state-issued identification card with a photograph or other identifying information.

"Work authorization" documents are a social security card, a U.S. birth certificate or other specified documents providing proof of work authorization. Documents that fulfill both requirements are a U.S. passport, a certificate of U.S. citizenship, a certificate of naturalization, an unexpired foreign passport with work authorization, or an Alien Registration Receipt Card (a "green card").

The next requirement is to fill out a Form I-9. The upper part of the form is filled out and signed by the employee. In the lower half, the employer verifies by signing his name that he has examined the necessary documents and that to the best of his knowledge the person hired is eligible to work.

For employees hired from Nov. 7, 1986, through May 31, employers have until Sept. 1, to check documents and complete Form I-9. They need do so only for those still working after June 1.

As a third point, the law requires employers to keep completed I-9 forms for at least three years, or for one year after the person leaves his employ, whichever is longer.

The final requirement is for employers to submit their I-9's for inspection by the INS or the Department of Labor after three days' notice.

Verification Penalties
Employers are not required to authenticate an employee's documents. They should accept documents that appear to be genuine and check to see that they relate to the individual who presents them.

If INS officials find that an employer has failed to keep I-9's on employees or has not abided by the other verification requirements, the employer may be subject to civil penalties of $1,000 per individual.

Learning To Comply
During the first year of implementation of the law, i.e., until May 31, 1988, employers will receive only a warning citation for the first offense. However, if an employer fails to correct violations after a citation has been issued, INS may seek civil penalties against an employer.

If employers can demonstrate that they have complied in good faith with all four verification requirements, they are entitled to an affirmative defense against having knowingly hired or continued to employ persons who are not authorized to work in the U.S.

Discrimination
The law also prohibits discrimination based on citizenship status or national origin.

An Office of Special Counsel has been created in the Justice Department to investigate and prosecute cases of discrimination resulting from immigration-related unfair employment practices.

House adjourns early after cooperative session

Effective management and bipartisan cooperation on major issues enabled the Illinois House of Representatives to adjourn on the June 30 deadline according to State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City.

"This is the first time in my six terms that the General Assembly has been able to leave Springfield near June 30," Wolf said. "Legislative leaders should be commended for effectively managing the operation of the House and Senate this session. We were able to get through a record 400 bills in less than five months."

The General Assembly was called back briefly on Wednesday to address problems the Senate had with two agency budgets, but then adjourned until October.

Wolf said many major bills were passed out with bipartisan support.

"Four bills providing alternative methods of financing college education passed out with over 100 votes," he continued. "Senate Bill 875 and House Bill 180 create a board to study innovative financing programs for college costs. They also establish a program to allow parents to buy tax exempt college savings bonds as a means of saving for their children's education."

Another measure co-sponsored by Wolf that was sent to the governor allows child victims of sexual abuse to give testimony on video tape in some cases. "This legislation is needed to prevent children who have already endured a potentially devastating experience from being further traumatized by the trial that follows," Wolf explained.

House Bill 510 allows the court to permit victims of sexual abuse or assault who are 12 years old or younger to avoid direct testimony through the use of either pre-recorded tape or televised broadcasts shown live in the courtroom.

Wolf also sponsored legislation which allows for trustees at Belleville Area College to be elected by subdistrict as opposed to the current at-large systems. "I introduced House Bill 143 to address a problem in the Metro-East area," Wolf said. "Even though Madison County provides a substantial portion of the funds used to operate Belleville College, no trustee has been elected from Madison under the current method of elections."

Wolf maintains that this bill will result in more equitable representation on the BAC Board of Trustees. Among the several persons he thanked for supporting the bill were Leo Konzen, a member of the BAC Board of Trustees; Avery Schermer, a former trustee; and R. C. Bush, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

"The Metro East area can claim another major victory with the governor's retreat from an increase in the gas tax," Wolf continued.

"Any increase in the motor fuel tax would have effectively closed many area gas stations," he said. "I, along with many of my colleagues in the House, opposed this unfair tax that would have been devastating to many border communities. I was extremely pleased to see Governor Thompson withdraw that plan."

Despite its successes, the session also had its share of disappointments for Wolf who supported two consumer measures that passed the House but were unable to gain Senate approval.

"Both the plant closing notification bill and the elected ICC bill were important to my area," Wolf added.

House Bill 810 would have required plant owners to notify workers 90 days in advance of a closing or relocation of 100 miles or more. After being approved by the House, the bill failed by one vote in the Senate.

Under House Bill 715, which also passed the House but stalled in the Senate, the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) would have been elected instead of appointed.

"The ICC is the governmental body responsible for approving hikes in utility rates. Therefore, I believe it is critical that this body be elected by the people," he added. "I expect that we'll have another chance to address this issue next session."

Over all, Wolf believes that this was a productive session.

"We went a long way toward addressing the major problems and concerns of Illinois citizens this session and I believe that much of the legislation we passed will help to improve the quality of life in our state," Wolf said.

College savings bonds measure gets approval in Illinois House

A measure making tax-exempt bonds available for purchase by parents as a method of saving for their children's education was approved by the Illinois House.

State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, a co-sponsor of the measure, said, "Parents are having an increasingly difficult time sending their sons and daughters to college."

"The cost of tuition and other expenses of higher education is skyrocketing at the same time cuts are being made in financial aid programs."

"This combination is causing many young people or their families to go deeply into debt just to finance an education, sometimes as much as $10,000 for four years of college."

Senate Bill 875 allows general obligation bonds already offered by the state each year to be sold in smaller denominations. The program will allow parents to purchase the less costly bonds and receive tax-exempt status on the savings for their children's education.

"Heavy debt is not a healthy situation for either the individual or the state," Wolf said. "These students are forced to delay buying a home or just getting on with their life until student loans are paid off."

Another provision of this legislation sets up a board consisting of the state treasurer, the director of the Board of Higher Education, the director of the State Scholarship Commission, and seven appointees.

Hospital gets lasers for eyecare surgery

Saint Anthony's Hospital in Alton has recently acquired two kinds of lasers for use in treatment of diseases of the eye, an Argon/Krypton laser and a "YAG" laser.

Laser stands for light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation, a process by which electrical energy is converted into light energy. This intense light energy is focused into a single beam inside the laser instrument and is delivered through an operating microscope. It is this light beam that an eye surgeon directs into a patient's eye.

Some eye surgeries formerly requiring hospital admission, with the surgical procedure taking place in the operating room, can now be performed on an outpatient basis using the lasers.

The laser procedures are performed very simply, said Registered Nurse Donna Stewart, laser nurse at Saint Anthony's.

After a short time following the procedure, the patients return home.

"Because these procedures are noninvasive and anesthesia is not needed, the laser patients arrive for their surgery in their street clothes," Stewart said. "The patients sit upright in front of the laser instrument with the only sensation being a moment of bright light. The procedure is virtually painless."

Eye diseases that can be treated by laser surgery include glaucoma; lysis of membranes that form after cataract surgery or intraocular lens implantation; and some diseases of the retina, especially those related to diabetes mellitus.

In addition to the painless procedure, short duration and economy of the outpatient procedure, the use of laser technology promotes the state-of-the-art treatment of these conditions by staff ophthalmologists, Stewart said.

Revolutionary War brothers to be honored at cemetery

Four Gillham Brothers who fought in the Revolutionary War will be honored Sunday, Aug. 2, at Wanda Cemetery, South Rox, in a commemorative ceremony sponsored by seven Madison County patriotic organizations.

The second annual gathering at 2:30 p.m., initiated by the Gen. George Rogers Clark Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution, will pay tribute to Isaac, James, Jonathan and Thomas Gillham Jr. They were members of a pioneer Madison County family, some of whom settled here as early as 1800.

All four brothers are buried in Madison County. Their father, Thomas Gillham Sr., and his other three sons also were Revolutionary War soldiers. An address by Georgia Engelke of Granite City, a descendant of the Gillhams, a salute by the American Legion, and a presentation of a scroll of colors by the Boy Scouts are among the items on the program. Descendants of the Gillham family will join in laying a wreath at the grave of John Gillham.

Besides the S.A.R. groups participating in the event are Daughters of the American Revolution chapters from Alton, Edwardsville, Granite City and Highland, the Madison County Historical Society and the Madison County Genealogical Society.

More information on the program or on joining any of the above groups may be obtained from Lloyd Schwarz at 656-7000 or 115 S. Main St., Edwardsville.

Traditional crafts survey under way

A survey of traditional women's 19th century handicrafts in Madison County will be conducted by the Madison County Arts Council during this month and August.

From the survey, the council hopes to compile a list of examples and of current practitioners of tatting, embroidery, crocheting, knitting, quilting, rug hooking and braiding, and other handicrafts. The results of the survey will be used in planning the NCA's annual December exhibit of handicrafts and to learn of craftspeople willing to instruct others in their craft. The survey is supported by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council.

The council is especially interested in locating people who have learned their craft in a traditional manner, such as from family member or friend. The council is also interested in locating examples of these crafts that have been passed down from relatives or friends.

Peggy Creed, Granite City, who has recently completed studies in traditional folklore and folkways, will be conducting the survey. Creed will be visiting senior citizen centers, churches, museums, and individuals in the Madison County area in the hope of locating examples and in finding persons who are practicing any of the traditional handicrafts.

Anyone who still practices these handicrafts, who has information about the crafts, or who wishes more information on this project is asked to call the council at 656-8014, or write Madison County Arts Council at 138 N. Main St., Edwardsville, IL 62025.

Waste reduction nominees sought

Applications for the governor's second annual "Innovative Waste Reduction Awards" are now being accepted by the Illinois Hazardous Waste Research and Information Center (HWRIC).

The awards presented to Illinois companies have significantly reduced the amount of hazardous waste they generate. Many achieve this through new hazardous waste reduction technologies or management strategies. The purpose of the awards is to encourage Illinois industries, both large and small, to develop and use new waste reduction technologies or improve existing methods.

Any state company, trade association or community interested in applying for the awards is encouraged to contact HWRIC at (217) 335-8940, or write to HWRIC, 1000 Northfield Drive, Savoy, Ill., 61874. Applications must be received by Aug. 15. An application form and description of the waste reduction technology or innovation are required.

Last year four Illinois companies received plaques in recognition of their hazardous waste reduction efforts: Solvent Systems, International; Safety Kleen Corp.; Continental Midland Inc.; and General Motors Corp. In addition, 15 companies received certificates of appreciation.

This year's awards will be presented at a conference to be held in Chicago Sept. 22 and 23.

This photo available through the Journal is the choice of more than 500 frames shot during the three nights of the 1987 VP Fair. This year's fireworks spectaculars at the fair again were sponsored by the Journal.

Pontoon Beach prepares for property development

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — A Tax Incremental Financing District to fund a five-acre redevelopment project was established by the Board of Trustees at its July 14 meeting, but not without debate.

A public hearing was held June 9 on the redevelopment plan and project. The adoption of two ordinances setting up the district was the next step in the legal process.

The TIF District lies on the west side of Illinois 111 and south of Interstate 270. The property is zoned for agricultural use and is considered a blighted area.

A large-scale development plan includes health care facilities, residential property, a bank and a 200,000-square-foot shopping center.

The TIF district will allow taxes to be frozen at the current level. Any future increases in real estate taxes, plus sales taxes, generated through new development in the affected area will be returned directly to the village.

In addition to creating the district, the ordinances July 14 sets up the allocation of financing for the redevelopment project area.

Both actions must be recorded with the Illinois Department of Revenue, Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles before further steps are taken.

"This does not authorize a bond issue, this simply creates the district," said Board Attorney Keith Jensen, responding to questions from Trustee Don Rea.

Under the redevelopment plan, the trustees are considering issuing approximately $385,000 in revenue bonds to finance construction of streets, sewers and utilities in the TIF area, known as Chouteau Trace I.

Some misgivings were voiced by Rea, who is concerned about interest payments on the bonds coming due before the property is developed as proposed.

"I can't believe no one's made any comments about this," Rea said.

John Gibbons of Edwardsville, attorney for Stan Lucas, owner and developer of the property, said every expenditure of the bond money must be approved by the trustees.

Capitalized interest for a 24-month period is built into the bonds and an insurance policy will protect against any default on the bonds, he said.

If projects are started on the property, the board can pay off the bonds with the money, Gibbons said.

The lawyer said the proposed development means about 200 jobs to the community. A nursing home expected to be constructed will have an assessed valuation of about $4.5 million.

Construction in two different areas is proposed — one with multifamily and single family residences, plus the nursing home. The second phase will include the shopping center.

An interested shopping center developer from the community last week, but has not given a firm commitment to construct a shopping area.

"We talked about this for two years," said Village President Glen Wilson. "This action has to be done to go any further with the project."

A roll call vote was taken on both ordinances with Rea voting "no" each time.

Voting to establish the TIF district were Trustees Bob Able, Louis Wiestel and Bob Vincent. Trustees Loren Madison and Keith Biggs were absent.

Road funds at all-time high

The state's Road Funds balance recently hit an all-time record balance of $380.8 million, Comptroller Roland W. Burris announced July 10.

The record was posted following the June 30 year-end Road Fund balance of $290 million, the highest year-end balance in state history. The fiscal 1987 year-end balance was $72 million more than the fiscal 1986 level of $218 million and was $171 million higher than the fiscal 1985 balance of $119 million.

Spending for highway construction from the Road Funds, the Transportation Series A Bonds and Build Illinois totaled $965 million in fiscal 1987.

Total Road Fund revenues for fiscal 1987 were $1.6 billion, $31 million lower than total revenues for fiscal 1986. Burris noted, however, it was the third straight year total Road Fund revenues have topped the $1.5 billion mark.

Saving $10 can be costly for video, pinball operators

To turn a $10 tax into a major expense, do nothing.

"Each year, there are a few business people who think it's not worth the time or the money to buy the annual $10 sticker that goes on video machines and pinball machines," said Roger Sweet, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

"And each year, there are business people who find out they lose hundreds of dollars in profits after we seize those machines that don't have stickers," he said.

"Since 1953, there has been a simple tax on all coin-operated amusement devices — pinball and video machines, jukeboxes and kiddie amusement rides. The Department of Revenue issues a small rectangular sticker to be displayed on each machine, showing that the $10 tax has been paid.

This year's taxes are due Aug. 31. Owners who have not yet made application for the red sticker should pick up applications from revenue offices throughout the state. There is one at 15 Executive Drive, Fairview Heights. Applications are also available by calling toll-free 8-800-732-8866.

The sticker is not required on personal amusement devices or on vending machines, such as cigarette or candy machines.

In fiscal 1986, the state issued 72,865 licenses and sent to the state's General Revenue Fund more than $760,000 in tax and penalties.

Operators who fail to purchase a $10 sticker may be fined $35 in tax, fees and penalties.

"However, the penalty for non-compliance is just the tip of the iceberg," said Sweet. "What really hurts is having the machine out of circulation for a few days. These are real money-makers, and operators are always quick to pay the tax and penalty, so they can get their machines back. When we seize a machine, it's usually full of money."

Usually revenue investigators will seize a machine by simply taping a seizure notice over the coin slot.

However, some operators remove the seizure notice, a Class C misdemeanor which has led to arrest and will usually result in the machine's physical removal.

"In that case," said Sweet, "in addition to tax and penalty, we make them also pay storage fees and the rental fee for the truck we use to haul the machine away."

• Lawyers

Through history, trial lawyers uphold law

through practice and observation. The trial lawyer's approach to storytelling, like the storyteller's, can take on a number of structures: dramatic, satirical or accusatory.

These oral presentations may be lengthy, embroider on the details of the case or include anecdotal tales. And, like a spellbinding narrator, the trial lawyer knows that facial expressions and vocal intonation must sometimes take precedence over content. A raised eyebrow here, a fist pounded there are just two of a number of techniques that allow the lawyer to get a point across to the jury.

Although the traditions of trial law go back centuries — past American trial lawyers include Daniel Webster and Abraham Lincoln — there are some who worry about the demise of the profession's special skills.

Kansas City's James Jeans, another participant in the Smithsonian Folklife Festival, laments that the "golden days" of trial law may well be over.

"Though he believes there will always be a number of law students 'yearning for combat and eager to enter trial law,' he feels that 'attentive dispute resolutions (out-of-court settlements) are threatening our jury system."

As an example, Jeans says he gained much experience trying jury cases on such minor accidents as rear-end collisions. But lawyers just starting out don't get such opportunities these days, he says, because those cases are gone — insurance companies settle them without lawyers.

Others agree there are declining opportunities for new lawyers to earn civil trial experience or to go into practice on their own.

Still others, however, are convinced trial lawyers will continue to hold their own. Prosecutor Patrick Williams, of Tulsa, Okla., says there will always be a need for advocacy and, therefore, there will always be trial lawyers.

Like Jeans, Williams believes trial lawyers "are more or less born." It is, he says, "innate (for a trial lawyer) to have trustworthiness, charisma, talent" coupled with the "ability to go into battle knowing the chances of losing are big, and then getting up and doing it again."

Attorney Michael Tigar of Austin, Texas, encourages trial lawyers to identify role models among their ancestors — and names Clarence Darrow as an example.

Class keeps teachers learning

Holding a sturdy card illustrated with colorful rainbows, balloons and words, Monette Gooch-Smith sang the first verse of "Sing a Rainbow" for 55 adults.

The serenade is part of Gooch-Smith's presentation to kindergarten teachers during the Kindergarten Institute, held recently at SIUE.

Gooch-Smith, who earned her master's degree in education from SIUE, is a kindergarten teacher at the New City School in St. Louis.

The institute, taught by Susan Nail, an associate professor in the department of elementary education at SIUE, is geared toward teaching kindergarten teachers how to expand their curriculum from the traditional half-day approach to full day.

Nail said that full-day kindergarten programs are the "trend of the future" now that funding has been approved by Gov. James R. Thompson, as well as other government officials.

"My goal with the institute is to help develop awareness of the importance of kindergarten."

History in the classroom

From the tape recorder on the table, the simulated voice of Sen. John C. Calhoun breaks the silence of the classroom: "We of the South will not, cannot surrender our institutions. To maintain the existing relations between the two races, inhabiting that section of the Union, is indispensable to the peace and happiness of both."

His declaration is followed by a comment from the Rev. Theodore D. Weld: "... Every man knows ... slavery is a curse. Whoever denies this, his lips libel his heart. Try him, clank the chains in his ears, and tell him they are for him."

The students attending a workshop on the Lincoln-Douglas Debates, at SIUE, are quiet and attentive.

The eloquent voice of Frederick Douglass joins the others: "I have often been awakened at the dawn of day by the most heart-rendering shrieks of an own aunt of mine, whom the master used to tie up and whip upon her naked back till she was literally covered with blood."

The students' faces are grim. On this particular day, Ron Stelhorn, a teacher of American history and geography at Waterloo Junior High School, has opened the class with the humorous announcement: "Let's pretend you are members of a junior high school class, which really means you haven't read the material assigned. You have been depending on your classmates ... Cliff notes, and class lectures ..."

Laughter fills the room. It is a scenario they know well as teachers. But today the situation is reversed; they are sitting on the other side of the desk.

As the classroom session progresses, Stelhorn and three other teacher-students will demonstrate the inquiry approach of teaching to their classmates. Later on in the week, the class will be introduced to four other teaching approaches.

These students are primarily practicing elementary, junior high and high school teachers who are not only increasing their knowledge of the Lincoln and Douglas debates but are seeking different approaches to teaching the social sciences.

Once an approach has been demonstrated, members of the class are invited to suggest the advantages and disadvantages for using it, as well as ways it might be utilized in teaching the social sciences as well as the other disciplines.

While multitudes of elementary, junior high and high school students are vacationing at the seashore, in the mountains and traveling abroad with their families this summer, little do they know that school is not out for their teachers. However, they will be the winners come fall.

What their teachers are learning at SIUE this summer will be internalized, and much of it will show up in another form in classrooms in the two-state area next year.

Youngsters raise funds for research hospital

The second annual Math-A-Thon, sponsored by St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., was held this spring at the Tri-City Park Tabernacle Child Development Center.

Of the students who chose to participate, a kindergartner, Lacy James Brazel, raised the most money, $260; breaking previous records.

During an open house, Lacy was presented with a trophy for his accomplishment, in addition to the certificate, T-shirt and gym bag awarded by St. Jude's. The presentation was made by Jill Page, director, and Tammy Bowles, kindergarten teacher.

He is the son of Lacy and Tammy Brazel, 2131 Missouri Ave., and grandson of Jim and Shirley Smith of Granite City and Jackie and Margaret Page of Union City, Tenn.

Health care

Doctor offers tips to avoid overheating in summertime

By Dr. Bernard J. Turnock
Department of Public Health

One of the most serious health hazards of summertime is heat exhaustion or heat stroke.

Heat stroke occurs when too much body heat is built up as a result of spending too much time in a hot place.

Even if you're not directly in the sun, you can build up excessive body heat by staying outdoors too long on a hot day or spending too much time indoors in a place that has become overly warm.

If you combine this kind of exposure to heat with strenuous physical activity, the risk of heat exhaustion becomes even greater.

The symptoms of heat exhaustion are: dizziness, nausea, light-headedness, severe headache, pale face, cool, clammy skin, heavy perspiration and shallow breathing.

Konzen joins SEMC staff

Dr. Kevin Konzen, internist, is the latest physician to join the physicians' staff at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, said Steve Hunter, SEMC vice president.

Konzen will be an associate with Dr. Lawrence Harmon, doctor of general internal medicine.

Konzen, a 1984 medical school graduate of the University of Illinois at Chicago, returns to Granite City, where he was born and raised. He is a 1976 graduate of Granite City High School and a 1980 graduate of the University of Notre Dame, in South Bend, Ind., with a bachelor's degree in chemistry.

Following medical school, Konzen did both his internship and residency at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

"I'm glad to be coming home," Konzen said. "My family is here. I grew up here, and the opportunity to work with Dr. Harmon was paramount in my decision."

Konzen is a member of the American Medical Association. His father, Leo, is vice chairman of the SEMC Governing Board, a Granite City attorney and a member of Belleville Area College's Board of Trustees. His mother, Pat, volunteers at the medical center.

If any of these symptoms occur, put the patient on his back in the coolest nearby place, loosen any tight clothing, lower his head slightly and get medical attention immediately. Heat stroke can be fatal if not treated promptly.

To help prevent heat stroke, the most important precaution is to drink extra amounts of fluids to help replace body fluid lost through perspiration. Water, fruit juices, or fruit-based drinks, such as lemonade are preferable to tea, coffee, soft drinks or alcoholic beverages. Beverages that contain caffeine or alcohol often act as mild diuretics, thus increasing the loss of body fluids.

Other precautions to take:

1. Stay indoors as much as possible, preferably in air conditioning.

2. Postpone strenuous activity until the weather cools off.

3. Jogging, bike riding or other strenuous exercise should be done during the early morning or evening hours when the temperature are lower.

4. Wear lightweight, loose-fitting clothing that will not interfere with the evaporation of perspiration.

If you work outdoors, take frequent breaks in the shade or coolest available place. You should also have an ample supply of water or fruit drinks available at all times.

If you do not have air conditioning, use fans or open windows to help circulate the air. Close windows and cover them with blinds or drapes during direct sunlight.

If you are in the heat and you begin to feel dizzy or nauseous, develop a headache or feel ill in any way, go immediately to the nearest shady or cool spot and sit or lie down. If your symptoms do not abate within a few minutes or become more severe, get medical attention immediately.

Hearing aid advice offered

Moisture and corrosion can damage hearing aids to the point where they won't perform as efficiently nor last as long as they would with proper care.

"This is especially true in the summer," said Amos L. Melvin, of the Beltone Hearing Aid Center in Granite City.

Melvin has these recommendations for warm weather:

1) At night, the hearing aid should be opened and the battery removed to allow the air to pass through and dry out the aid.

2) "Never use a hair dryer or other heating device to speed the drying process," he said. "The heat can be very damaging to the instrument."

3) If possible, hearing aid wearers should remove their aids before exercising, and definitely leave them outside the bathroom when bathing or showering.

Melvin recommended having an in-the-ear hearing aid cleaned at least once a year by a qualified hearing aid dispenser. Hearing aids worn behind the ear should be checked twice each year, as the tubing tends to need replacement.

The Beltone office at 2 Executive Park Suite E, Illinois 203, is offering a free summer hearing aid check-up during the month of July. For more information, contact the Beltone office at 931-1227 or if outside the Granite City area 1-800-423-0522.

Beltone Hearing Aid Center of Granite City is affiliated with Beltone Electronics Corp. of Chicago, the largest manufacturer of hearing aids and hearing test equipment in the U.S.

Council offers slides about osteoporosis

"Osteoporosis and You" is a program of special interest to women. The St. Louis District Dairy Council has the 15-minute slide and tape presentation available to all church and civic organizations.

Osteoporosis is a painful and crippling bone disease, resulting from a calcium deficiency, which makes bone brittle and thin, susceptible to breaks, cracks and fractures. It affects more than 15 million Americans, most of them women. This disease often can be prevented or slowed down through appropriate diet and lifestyle changes.

"Osteoporosis and You," is an informative program that discusses who is at risk for osteoporosis and what can be done to discourage this painful disease.

If the program chairman or organization president is interested in borrowing the side presentation, at no charge, contact Melissa Larsen, home economist, chairman, Illinois Area Offices, St. Louis District Dairy Council, 8710 Manchester Road, St. Louis, Mo. 63144, phone (314) 961-3100.

Shortage of RNs addressed in bill

By Dorothy Stratman-Lucey
RN, INS board member

As reported in "Capital Update," the legislative publication of the American Nurses Association, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., introduced Senate Bill 1402 to address the shortage of registered nurses. The bill, drafted in conjunction with several nursing organizations including the ANA, was unanimously approved by the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee on July 1.

During the discussion, Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Maryland, noted she supported the proposal, but two things would make it more attractive: more money and respect.

"Until nurses are paid a decent income for the job they do, more and more of our young people will avoid nursing as a career. And not until nurses are afforded the respect they deserve by doctors and others will we see more people making nursing their profession in the seven hospitals where the doctors have gone on strike and nurses have been able to keep the doors open and continue to provide necessary services. But when nurses go on strike, hospitals have to close their doors; they are the ones who really keep things running," Mikulski said.

The key provisions of SB 1402 are: 1. Establishment of an Advisory Committee to address the shortage issue; 2. Grants for the development of innovative hospital nursing practice models; 3. Demonstration projects designed to improve recruitment centers. The bill, if enacted, authorizes a total of $18 million during a three-year authorization period. Funds must then be appropriated by the Appropriations Committee.

For more information on ANA's efforts with the nursing shortage, contact its Washington office at 1101-14th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005. To add your concern and support for nurses, contact your senators to support SB 1402.

Reflect also on the importance of Mikulski's statement: more money and more respect. Nurses have to pay bills like all of us. Yet, the caring nature of the profession seems to be stressed and not the economic compensation for services and dedication given. They often work in situations where the nurse is caught between the needs of the patient, formal and informal rules of hospital administration, and the personality and preferences of the physician.

Respect cannot come for nurses when physicians, junior colleges, the Department of Registration and Education, the Illinois Medical Society, and the Illinois Hospital Association all seek to keep nurses practicing under a 1961 Nurse Practice Act. The nursing profession has presented to the legislature in Illinois this spring a model Nurse Practice Act, House Bill 2259, to upgrade the entry levels for nursing and give nurses more power over their profession. No NPA has passed the legislature yet. Contact your legislators while they are home for the summer and see what their views are on the nursing shortage, respect for nurses, and how they plan to vote.

Vaccine for children needed

By Donna Meyer, RN
INA vice president

In the last decades we have seen many advances in pediatric health care. One of the areas is the event of immunizations for children. No longer do we have the scenes from the early 1950s when there were fulminating cases of polio across the United States.

Our children today can now be protected against many of the childhood diseases. At present there are vaccines available for: polio, pertussis, diphtheria, tetanus, measles, mumps and rubella. Work is continuing on a vaccine for chicken pox, and it is hoped that it will be available in the next couple of years.

There is a new vaccine about which some are not yet aware. This newcomer is the HIB vaccine which became available in spring 1985. The haemophilus influenza type B vaccine aids in protecting children against such diseases caused by H flu type bacteria such as meningitis, epiglottitis, sepsis, cellulitis, osteomyelitis and pneumonia.

The HIB vaccine is recommended by the American Academy of Pediatrics for children between the ages of 2 and 5. At this time, routine revaccination is not recommended. It has been demonstrated that the vaccine is 90 percent effective in children of this age group. The exact efficiency of the vaccine in children 18 to 23 months of age is not yet established. However, initial vaccination at 18 months is recommended for two specific groups: These groups are children with chronic conditions associated with increased risk for HIB disease. The vaccine is not recommended for children under 18 months.

The immunizing dose is a single injection of the vaccine. Side effects from the vaccine have been found to be minimal. They include fever and local inflammation at the site of injection. Generally these adverse effects are minor and last 24 hours or less. A fever of 101 or higher has been reported in about 2 percent of HIB vaccine recipients and about 10 percent of the children had local reaction at the injection site.

It must be emphasized that the HIB vaccine will only protect against haemophilus influenza type B infectious processes. However, this bacteria accounts for very serious illnesses in children. If you have additional questions about the vaccine and have a child age 2 to 5 years, speak with your pediatrician or nurse practitioner. Who knows, with the continued research, we may someday see the end of these childhood diseases.

EMYLEE ALFORD of Granite City coordinates activities for senior citizens with a goal of making retirements into "golden years."

Alford called 5-star person

GRANITE CITY — Emylee Alford's retirement has earned her a five-star rating from many Granite Citizens.

She retired once but decided that a 40-hour week working with senior citizens in Granite City is more to her liking.

"When they told me at Central Bank they wanted me to work with the seniors in the community — and that I could be involved with my volunteer organizations — I couldn't pass the job up," said Alford.

At the bank, 876-1212, she informs seniors about the advantages of joining the Five Star Club, an organization for seniors designed to assist them in banking, discount car rentals, an emergency home watch service, travel and entertainment opportunities. She also edits a senior newsletter.

Alford is a member of the advisory council of the Belleville Area College RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program) that includes Madison and St. Clair counties. She also works with 13 other senior organizations in Granite City.

"I try to meet with them at least once a month. I've been on the board at the YMCA and involved with community organizations for years," she said.

This spring she helped organize trips to the thoroughbred race horse country of Kentucky, the Rockome Gardens area and its Amish community, a day on the S.S. Admiral, and an afternoon musical concert at Queeny Park.

During Granitfest '87, a two-week celebration in May sponsored by Granite City civic and business leaders, Alford was busier than usual. As a member of the Granite City Ambassadors, the promoters of Granitfest '87, she helped organize the festival. One of the activities of the festival was a special senior citizen recognition day which Alford coordinated.

"We have a list of approximately 40 members who do volunteer work in the community," she said. "There is something going on all the time."

Alford is convinced she doesn't have time to retire. She needs to put the finishing touches on the next newsletter and also is making final arrangements for her group to tour Hawaii this summer.

Historic home place of peace

Winston Churchill paddled about in the pool near the cottage. Nikita Khrushchev stopped by one autumn after noon for a visit. John F. Kennedy, courting crucial political support, was invited for lunch during the 1960 presidential campaign. At times in between, the retreat along the Hudson River Valley often was brimming with friends, neighbors, relatives and others whom the owner deeply cared about or wished to know.

The place is Val-Kill, Eleanor Roosevelt's home and now the first national historic-site dedicated to a first lady. Located in Hyde Park, N.Y., just a few miles east of the Franklin D. Roosevelt family home, Val-Kill has opened permanently to the public as part of the centennial observance of Mrs. Roosevelt's birth on Oct. 11, 1884.

"The peace of it is divine," she wrote shortly after a section of the retreat was built in 1926, saying later that "Val-Kill was where I used to find myself and grow. At Val-Kill I emerged as an individual."

Known by admirers in her time as "The First Lady of the World," Eleanor Roosevelt was a woman of many interests and priorities — the abolition of poverty, careers for youth, women's rights, the rights of minorities, new homelands for refugees of war and, above all, peace. Her contribution in drafting the landmark 1948 United Nations Human Rights Declaration is considered the crowning achievement of years of activism. She was "an American phenomenon comparable to the Niagara Falls," one U.N. diplomat said.

Eleanor simply loved people. She delighted the king and queen of England on a Hyde Park visit by serving them hot dogs. Each spring at her wooded site, she hosted and thoroughly enjoyed an all-day picnic for several hundred youths from the nearby Wildwyck School for disturbed boys, also serving hot dogs and treating them royally.

She was constantly growing, biographer Joseph P. Lash writes, quoting from a letter of 1937: "If the day ever comes when someone talks to me about something and it does not at once start a dozen trains of thought, I shall feel that the real springs of life are slowing up." On another occasion, Eleanor advised a graduating class: "Don't dry up by inaction but go out and do new things and see new things with your own eyes."

Slowly at first, and often painfully, Eleanor had moved away from a pacific background of privilege in which she could have settled down to a comfortable life of teas and charities. Instead, Eleanor Roosevelt "wanted to be fully involved — with work, with people," Lash explains. "She did not want to be a name on a letterhead, an ornamental woman, without a job of her own to do."

Arson suspected in church fire

By Bill Milligan

Editor. CAHOKIA—Authorities suspect arson caused the fire that destroyed Cahokia Park Methodist Church, 1400 Camp Jackson Road, early Monday morning.

Police arrested and charged Dale E. Baskin, 27, of 223 St. John Drive with one count of arson.

Authorities believe Baskin lived in Cahokia for three weeks prior to the incident. He was arrested at the scene at about 7:30 a.m. after engaging several people in conversations about the fire.

"He talked with me and I thought it was a little suspicious," said Herschel Riddle, chief of the Cahokia Volunteer Fire Department. "I reported my conversation to the police."

Police would not say what made Baskin a suspect. "A few things indicated he knew something about the fire," said Lt. Guy Westbrook. "He made some admissions. The state's attorney has asked us not to release that information."

Police reported Baskin has a second grade education. He is unemployed. He was living with Marilyn Mueller, the mother of his legal guardian, Wally Schmidt, of 11 Westwood Drive.

Patrolman Terry Ely noticed the fire at 5:32 a.m. while on patrol. He radioed for help. Firemen were on the scene by 5:35 a.m.

The police dispatcher called me around 5:30 and my feet were at the doorstep," said the Rev. John Annable, church pastor. "As soon as I opened my door, I smelled smoke. I knew it must be a terrible fire if I smelled smoke at my home (several blocks away)."

"I knew what it was that was burning," he said. "That made it worse."

Riddle said that by the time firefighters arrived the building was consumed by the fire. Cahokia asked for help from Prairie Du Pont, Camp Jackson Fire Department and Sauget.

"It was gone before we got there," Riddle said. "You feel sort of helpless, knowing there is nothing you can do." Riddle said heat from the blaze was so intense, firemen could not enter the building to fight the fire.

"There was a full basement and a wooden floor," he said. "We were afraid the floor would collapse if we went inside. With all the pews, lacquer and plywood inside, it added to the severity of the fire."

Riddle estimated damage to the building at $850,000 and $75,000 to the contents. Members of the congregation said some items inside the building were priceless.

"We'll rebuild," Annable said. "We don't know how the insurance will come out. We'll use that as a starting place."

Annable said the 457 member congregation plans to meet on the lawn in front of the church next Sunday if weather permits. The church was originally built by members and several are ready to start again.

Baskin is being held at St. Clair County Jail on $30,000 bond.

Church holds convention in St. Louis

An audience of 10,500 people assembled at the St. Louis Arena for the final session of the district convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, last weekend.

A Zimbelman of St. Louis delivered a talk on the subject of "In Our Fearful Times: Who Can You Trust?"

He presented a talk on the world situation and said that the country needs people who can be trusted, who are loyal, truthful, and a help and comfort in time of need, according to a local resident who attended the convention.

Around the kitchen

Stack a hearty sandwich with light luncheon meat

By Jacqueline Lankfer
Registered dietitian
American Heart Association
St. Louis Chapter

Wonderful things are happening at the luncheon meat counter of the grocery store. There is an increasing number of processed meats proudly boasting labels that read "extra lean" or "95 percent fat-free." These products signal an awareness among manufacturers regarding the general public's desire to cut fat and calories in daily diets. The majority of these meats are by-products of lean poultry, such as turkey.

Numerous questions have surfaced about the suitability of these products in a heart-healthy diet. The most common confusion surrounds the "percentage fat-free" claim. For example, if a product is 95 percent fat-free, does this mean only five percent of its calories comes from fat? The answer is no.

The percentage figure refers to the percent of fat the meat contains by weight. Fat is a more dense source of calories than carbohydrate and protein. Because fat contributes nine calories per gram of carbohydrate for protein, a meat product that is "95 percent fat-free" derives between 18 and 36 percent of its calories from fat. In layman's terms, the fat content is somewhere around one-half teaspoon per 2-ounce serving.

In general, the lower-fat luncheon meats are a good alternative for individuals who want to avoid fatty foods. Unfortunately, they are not a perfect choice.

The sodium content of these products remains high although the fat has been reduced.

The high sodium content should be considered when the meats are planned as part of a day's menu. Create a balance by serving natural, unprocessed foods as an accompaniment and avoid sodium-laden foods the rest of the day.

Portion size is another important consideration. Moderation is the key for success in low-fat dining. Limit processed meat servings to 2 ounces. A person who is accustomed to a heavier sandwich can add bulk by topping it with lettuce leaves, tomato slices, alfalfa sprouts, peppers, cucumber slices or onions.

Many traditional condiments contribute unwanted fat and sodium to sandwiches. Try the following recipe for Hot Prepared Mustard for a zesty low-fat, sodium-free spread.

Hot prepared mustard

- 2 tbsp. dry mustard
- 2 tbsp. sugar
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/2 tsp. onion powder
- 1/2 tsp. turmeric
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice
- 2 tbsp. water

Zucchini sprouts new potential in microwave

What a wonderful, versatile vegetable zucchini is.

It cooks very quickly in a microwave oven because it has such a high moisture content, so be careful not to overcook it.

Put about 1 pound of zucchini slices in a glass bowl. Add 1 or 2 tablespoons water. Cover and cook about 4 minutes on the highest microwave setting for a delicious and firm-but-tender vegetable.

To dress that up, cook about 1/2 cup chopped onion and 1/4 cup butter in a glass bowl on the highest setting 2 minutes until the onion is tender. Then stir the onion and butter into the cooked and drained zucchini. Blend the vegetable mixture with 1/4 cup mayonnaise and 1/2 cup dairy sour cream.

For a topping, combine 2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing crumbs with 1/2 teaspoon paprika and 1/4 cup butter. Cook 1 minute, then stir until all crumbs are coated. Spoon this over the zucchini mixture and top with some grated cheddar cheese. Cook 3 or 4 minutes until the cheese melts for a magnificent vegetable dish.

Give fresh zucchini soup a try for an interesting change of pace. For about 6 servings, take 3 or 4 cups zucchini, cut in 1-inch chunks. Add 2 cups water, 1/2 cup condensed consommé, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 2 slices cooked and crumbled bacon (this can be cooked on paper towels in a microwave for about 1 minute per slice), 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley, 1/2 teaspoon basil, 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1 clove of garlic, minced. Covered, cook on the highest power level 15 minutes, or until zucchini is tender. Sprinkle parmesan cheese on top and the soup is ready to serve.

It can teach the sweet satisfaction of self reliance and paying your own way. It can teach a lot about people, about getting along with fellow workers, about bosses, and about what you owe customers and what they owe you.

It can teach pride, responsibility and haring in their doing what has to be done and doing it right.

Stir up the leftover veggies in summer salad varieties

Salads are among the most versatile dishes in a meal planning repertoire, so in the summer salad options reach their peak with the bounty of summer fruits and vegetables. Various types of salads can serve as an appetizer, main course, side dish or special dessert.

When prepared with a little planning, salads are hard to beat as delicious, low-fat sources of vitamin C, beta-carotene (a form of vitamin A) and fiber.

The key to healthful salad-making is to maximize the most nutritious components, especially dark yellow and dark green vegetables and fruits, and minimize the components that add unwanted fat, such as high-fat cheeses and meats or rich salad dressings.

Many vegetables are higher in nutrients and fiber than lettuce, so try a salad based on spinach, broccoli or cabbage instead. Try to delay cutting fruits and vegetables until close to serving time, because they lose nutrients once sliced or chopped.

For the freshest, tastiest salad, make salad dressing at home rather than relying on commercial products. Homemade dressing can be tailored to personal taste and allows control over the amount of fat included. The easiest is an oil and vinegar combination, light on the oil with a few favorite herbs and spices, such as pepper, mustard, tarragon, basil, dill or garlic.

Here are some salad ideas to give a start.

Instead of lettuce, ABC Salad uses cabbage which is a good source of vitamin C. Other vegetables and apple add contrasts in color, texture and flavor, as well as adding more nutrients.

When looking for a way to use up small amounts of leftover vegetables, try a nutritious marinated salad which can be made with almost any vegetables. The cauliflower and broccoli provide vitamin C and the broccoli and carrots are high in vitamin A.

ABC salad

- 1 large red apple, cored, chopped
- 1 stalk broccoli, chopped medium fine
- 1 small to medium head cabbage, coarsely grated
- 1 or 2 onions, chopped fine
- 1 cup oil
- 1 cup sugar or honey
- 1 cup vinegar
- 1 tsp. plus 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 2 tsp. prepared mustard
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. paprika, if desired
- Red and/or green pepper, if desired

Mix oil, sugar, vinegar, lemon juice, mustard, pepper, salt and paprika together well, ideally in blender.

Combine apple, broccoli, cabbage and onions in salad bowl. Stir in some of the dressing. Refrigerate at least one hour before serving.

When serving, add enough additional dressing just to moisten and emphasize flavor. Use strips or circles of green pepper to garnish.

Yields about 6 servings, each with 10 gm. fat and about 170 calories.

Marinated vegetable salad

- 1 cup bite size cauliflowerets
- 1 cup sliced zucchini (about 1 small)
- 1 cup broccoli florets
- 1 cup sliced carrots
- 4 tsp. oil
- 5 tsp. white vinegar
- 2 tsp. wine vinegar
- 3 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. oregano
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1 to 1 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 tsp. anise seeds

Combine cauliflower, zucchini, broccoli and carrots in large bowl.

Shake together oil, white and wine vinegar, juice, oregano, mustard, garlic and anise in small jar. Pour dressing over vegetables. Toss well.

Cover and refrigerate several hours before serving or overnight. Stir occasionally.

Makes about 4 servings. Each 1/2 cup serving contains 74 calories and about 5 gm. fat.

Warm salad sends Italian image

The American love affair with Italian food combines well with a growing interest in salads. Salads that include meat and are served at room temperature inspire quick and easy meals like Warm Italian Chicken Salad.

Once a French restaurant phenomenon, warm salads are popping up on more and more menus. They are ideal for serving at home. They offer the style of warm-weather foods with the comfort of a hot meal.

One of the best ways to use a microwave oven to full advantage is to make one-dish meals and use food products where most of the preparation work already is complete. Warm Italian chicken salad is made with chunks of boneless chicken breast, frozen mixed vegetables and packaged Italian salad dressing mix. These ingredients are mixed, cooked in a microwave, and then tossed with equal parts mayonnaise and sour cream. Served on lettuce leaves, it is ready to eat in 30 minutes.

Another microwave dish that hints of Italian cooking is a simplified version of classic stuffed beef rolls. Easy beef rolls call for cubed steaks stuffed with spinach and rice. Convenient tricks here include using frozen creamed spinach and packaged pre-cooked rice to make a speedy filling. Brushing the outside of the rolls with a mixture of spicy mustard and Worcestershire sauce adds flavor and also gives the meat a dark, appealing color.

Microwave Warm Italian chicken salad

- 1 lb. skinned boned chicken breasts, cut in 1 1/2 inch pieces
- 1 (16 oz.) pkg. frozen cauliflower, baby whole carrots and snow pea pods
- 2 tsp. scallions, cut diagonally in 1/2 inch pieces
- 1 envelope Italian salad dressing mix
- 2 tsp. mayonnaise
- 2 tsp. dairy sour cream
- Salad greens

Combine chicken, vegetables, scallions and salad dressing mix in 8- or 9-inch microwave-safe baking dish. Mix well. Cover and cook at high 6 minutes. Stir, cover and cook 6 minutes longer.

Let stand 5 minutes. Drain liquid. Blend mayonnaise with sour cream. Add to chicken mixture. Toss well.

Serve on salad greens. Makes 2 servings.

Microwave Easy beef rolls

- 1 pkg. (9 oz.) frozen creamed spinach, thawed
- 1 cup quick-cooking rice, uncooked
- 1 cup half-and-half
- 1 tsp. onion powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 1 lb. cube steaks (2)
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

Combine spinach, rice, half-and-half, onion powder, salt and pepper. Let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, pound steaks with meat hammer or edge of heavy plate. Spread half spinach mixture on each steak. Roll up. Secure with wooden picks. Place in 8-inch microwave-safe dish.

Combine mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Spread 1 tablespoon on rolled steaks. Cover dish and cook at high 8 minutes. Spread remaining mustard mixture on steaks. Cover and rotate dish half turn. Cook 2 minutes longer. Let stand 5 minutes.

Schuck 'hooks' audiences

By Frank Hunter
Journal correspondent

In show business, where there are countless people to fall in love with, many actors still choose themselves. Which makes John Schuck a very different breed — a busy performer whose face is terribly familiar but whose name does not ring bells.

This poses no problem for Schuck, a theatrical "survivor" in every sense of the word. He remains modest, serene and unshakable, chuckling and drawing "So what's in a name, anyway?"

The amiable actor, who has weathered three television series ("McMillan & Wife," "Homes & Yoyo," and most recently "Turnabout" for NBC), has done what most performers only dream of doing: made a smooth switch from television to feature films to stage.

Monday, July 20, Schuck begins a week's run at The Mundy opposite former Olympic gymnast Cathy Rigby in "Peter Pan." Schuck will tantalize the tots with his ferocious disposition and paranoid ways as the ubiquitous Captain Hook, forever lacing shores, beating crews, casting anchors, tying ties and stroking the hair of a lady fair with a look he flourishes like a pair of gleaming prehensile forepaws.

Reminded that the late Cyril

Ritchard toured in "Peter Pan" and played Hook as a mean and flamboyant fop, Schuck calls Ritchard "a stylist whose portrayal was fairly cruel but lacking a spine."

"There's no doubt Hook is fopish and vain and fancies himself as very grand," he said. "But he's really a failure at everything including villainy and that's where the fun in the piece lies for the audience."

The business of being recognized except for his name is more funny than frustrating to the actor who remains constantly busy.

"It's a compliment," Schuck insists, "in that there's a body of work people recall. But they just TV, not movies. My most recent play was a Los Angeles production of Romulus Linnay's "Sand Mountain," which ran four months.

"The theater is always there, and when I have a good year in TV and movies I don't fret about the low salaries because it's still my first love."

Muny sets winter schedule

By Frank Hunter
Journal correspondent

Six shows will comprise the 1987-88 Muny Winter Season slated for the Fox and American theaters.

Deadline for current subscribers to renew their season tickets is 5 p.m. Friday, July 24, according to The Muny's executive consultant Frank C. Pierson.

The winter season begins Sept. 8 to 13 with Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Song & Dance." The show stars international recording and concert performer Melissa Manchester as Emma, a young English girl who reveals through 21 songs the hopes, fears, pitfalls and joys of seeking romance and success in contemporary America. The production was nominated for eight Tony Awards.

Andrew Lloyd Webber's previous hits include "Cats" and "Evita."

Tim Conway and Pat Hargrington will team up Sept. 15 to 20 in a production of Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple."

"Broadway Bound," the third play in Simon's semi-autobiographical trilogy is set for March 22 to 27.

"Me And My Girl," an evening of music, dance and humor revolving around an English cockney who discovers he's heir to an earldom, is scheduled for May 31 to June 5.

Two additional productions from the following list will also be included in the series, with selections and dates to be announced later.

"Satchmo" — A new musical based on the life of Louis Armstrong — October.

"West Side Story" — A reprise of the hit musical with recording star and soap opera actor Jack Wagner appearing in the bitter-sweet love story with a score by Leonard Bernstein — November.

"The Sunshine Boys" — Mickey Rooney will star in Neil Simon's comedy about two feuding ex-vaudevillians who team up for one more show — December-January.

Concert set for tonight at park

GRANITE CITY — Drummer Stan Fornaszewski and his Big Band will present a concert of Big Band Era music at 7:30 p.m. today (Wednesday) in Wilson Park, 27th Street and Delmar Avenue.

In case of rain, the concert will be held in the Wilson Park Ice Rink.

This is the fifth in a series of Big Band concerts, sponsored by the Granite City Park District and the American Federation of Musicians Local 717. The final concert of the season is slated for Aug. 12.

Fornaszewski recently returned from a two-week engagement aboard the Mississippi Queen riverboat.

Open Women's team gets gold at PSG Games

Ruben Mendoza's Women's Open soccer team brought home the gold from the 1987 Prairie State Games.

The Southern Region team edged out a 2-1 victory over Pioneer in Saturday's title game to gain Region 8's only gold medal in soccer. The scholastic men's team won a bronze medal while the other two squads settled for fourth place.

Terr Schuler of Granite City scored on a free kick for the women's open team's first goal of the title game. Then Collinsville's Shelly Sarraich got the winner with six minutes left to give the gold to Granite City's Mendoza, coaching the team for the fourth straight year.

Alton's Tom Noll scored to win the bronze medal for the Southern team in a 1-0 win over Blackhawk. Noll's goal was assisted by Edwardsville's Tom Fayvatt.

The women's scholastic team—featuring eight Granite City natives—was defeated in the bronze medal game by West Central 2-0.

The men's open team was defeated by West Central 3-2 in two overtimes. Collinsville's Tony Ellis, who had a hat trick in an earlier game, scored for Southern as did SIUE's G.P. Boyer.

Chiefs lose despite Banks' power show

By Gina Reynolds
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Saturday was a three-homer, one-man show for Chiefs center fielder Chester Banks.

"I was hitting the ball well," Banks said. "I wish we could have won the ballgame. I just try to help them any way I can."

But his help wasn't quite enough as Granite City lost 14-6 to the first-place White City Black Diamonds in a 3-M League game at Dal Maxvill Field.

Starting pitcher Darrel Harris opened the game with a strike-out, then got into some first-inning trouble when he allowed a single and a run-scoring double.

After back-to-back infield errors which loaded the bases, White City third baseman Dick Hanson ripped a double for two RBIs. Another run crossed the plate on the throw from the outfield, giving the Black Diamonds a four-run lead.

Banks lead off the bottom of the first and began his home run binge with a soaring line drive to right for the Chiefs' only run of the inning.

Harris silenced the Black Diamonds in the second, but in the bottom of the inning the noise began.

Dennis Gurkin led off with a single but was erased on a fielder's choice by third baseman Rich Takamalian. A walk to Harris put two men on.

Banks walked on and did it again. A three-run homer tied the score at 4-4, putting the Chiefs right back in the game.

Three singles gave White City two more runs in the fourth which Granite City couldn't match. And in the fifth, singles by first baseman Mark Fennell and shortstop Mark Tomso led to a run. A walk to left fielder Nick Koshich put two runners on for catcher Scott Mathis.

Mathis didn't let the opportunity pass him, driving in two runs with a single to give the Black Diamonds a 9-4 lead.

Harris gave up two walks in a row to start the sixth and second baseman Bill Hiltmeier drove in yet another White City run with a single.

Back to back — quiet since the third — put run No. 5 on the board after — yep — Banks hit his third round-tripper of the day.

Catcher Tim Spangenger smacked a double but three consecutive Chiefs were set down to put a halt to their scoring once again.

"Today, it was just missed opportunities," Gurkin said. "We had a lot of hits but not at the right times."

But the Black Diamonds managed to time their hits just right throughout the game and the eighth was no exception. A home run by right fielder John Senjan started things off and a single, a walk and another single later, the Black Diamonds had put two more runs on the board. A single by Koshich brought the final run across the plate.

Back-to-back walks and a hit gave the Chiefs their last run in the eighth. But that was all as Granite City's record fell to 4-4.

Granite City High School pitching star Darin Hendrickson made his first appearance for the Chiefs, pitching a scoreless ninth.

"We wasted a fine pitching performance by Harris," Gurkin said. "And Chester had an excellent day."

"Last year I thought he was the best player in the league and he hasn't done anything this year to make me change my mind."

"We still have eight games plus the tournament. It's not the end of the season. We just need to tighten our defense. These guys (White City) are the best in the league, so it's no disgrace to lose to them."

Triplets even score with win over Alton on Moad's pitching

By Dave Jefferson

ALTON — Tri-City Post 113 improved to 11-5 in the league and lived up to its co-favorite status in the District 22 North Division race with an 11-2 pummeling of Alton on Sunday.

"We hit the ball real well," said manager Gus Lignoul before his team left for O'Fallon. "We've scored 35 runs in our last three games. At this time of the year it's hard to come back when you get behind big early. It takes a lot out of you. You've got to keep chipping away. And we've not done that when we've been behind."

"When they (Alton) played us in Granite City they killed us. Everybody plays well in front. The North Division is a two-horse race. Either team (Tri-City or Edwardsville) can win it. We've got some tough ball games coming up and we'll take them one game at a time. Attitude and good defense is what it takes to win ball games."

Tri-City jumped out to a 5-0 lead after two innings when they batted around on four hits, three walks and a crucial error by Alton shortstop Dan Stephan.

Pitcher John Moad started things rolling with a leadoff single up the middle. Charlie Collins followed with a single of his own and went to second on a lazy throw by the right fielder.

But Collins was the first out of the inning when he was picked off second. Darin Hendrickson then caused the second out when he hit into a fielder's choice at short. Alton starter Dan Stephan gunned down Moad at the plate on the play.

Scott LeVallant then walked and Tim Patterson loaded the bases on a fielding error by Stephan. Hendrickson came across the plate when Alton starter and loser Jim Vanabaketa issued his second pass of the inning to Joe Wallace.

Tim Hogan singled in LeVallant and Patterson as Tri-City grabbed a 3-0 lead. Todd Hinterser maximized it 5-0 with a ticket single to score Wallace and Tim Hogan.

Alton got two runs back in the third but it was much too little, much too late.

Hinterser and Moad provided back-to-back RBI douts in the fourth to put the game out of reach. 7-2. Tri-City got a try in the fifth and one more in the seventh to finish the scoring.

Park sponsors baseball tournaments

J. Hogan picked to play in high school all-star game

Jamie Hogan will officially close out his high school athletic career Aug. 1 in Normal.

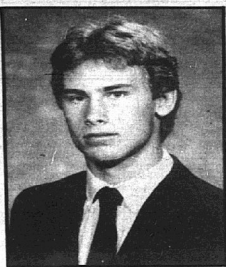

Hogan, who will be attending SIU-Carbondale this fall, will play for the West squad in the 13th annual Illinois High School All-Star Football Game at Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University.

The game is a benefit for the Shrine Mason hospitals, which serve Illinois in Oak Park and St. Louis, Mo.

Hogan was nominated by Warrior head coach Ron Yates and is one of 88 graduating seniors in the state selected. He caught 55 passes for 827 yards and 11 touchdowns in leading the Warriors to an 8-3 record, the Southwestern Conference championship and a berth in the Class 6A playoffs. He also intercepted 11 passes as a defensive back including five against Cahokia Sept. 5, returning one for a touchdown.

Each 44-man squad consists of 24 players from Class 4A, 5A and 6A schools. At least six players each from 4A and 5A schools must be selected, so Hogan was one of no more than 12 Class 6A players chosen.

The West team will be coached by Mike Tracey of Rock Island Aileman. Bob Hight of Crystal Lake South will coach the East team. Each coach will have five assistants. The coaching staff is made up of the head coaches of the six state champions and the six runners-up. Game officials come from the

Jamie Hogan

Big 10 Conference.

The game begins at 7:30 p.m. It is co-sponsored by the Illinois Coaches Association and the Mohammed Shrine. Players will spend the entire week before the game in Normal.

Other area players in the game are Ken Shields of Belleville Althoff and Shawn Gaines of East St. Louis Assumption.

They will play on the East squad. The state is split in half diagonally by Interstate 55.

Tickets are $6 for reserved seats and $4 for general admission. For tickets, send postage paid return envelope to All Star Football, P.O. Box 1331, Bloomington, Ill., 61702-1331.

NCAA making some strange decisions

It's funny how little things — on the surface, that is — tend to get me down. Particularly if it concerns a sport or team I am fond of.

One such team is the SIUE Cougars baseball squad. I retired as the sports information director at SIUE in August 1981. I had joined the staff there in January 1969. I was charged with the responsibility of starting a program of writing up and distributing news releases — and feature stories — about the various sports programs on the campus. I travelled an average of 10,000 miles annually with the "Big Three" sports for the most part — soccer, basketball and baseball.

In 13 years, one grows very fond of the athletes and teams he is called to report on. I know as a professional sports reporter one isn't supposed to become a fan or a roofer. But I respect I found myself pulling for the Cougars.

Sports of All Sorts

By Al Barnes

The Cougars won national championships in soccer in 1972 and 1979. And in tennis — my personal favorite sport — the Cougars won seven straight national championships. Incidentally, former SIUE stars Ken Flack and Bob Seguso added to their laurels by winning the men's doubles crown at Wimbledon. That established that their 1986 U.S. Open championship wasn't a fluke.

But the happening that raised my ire was the announcement that the NCAA would, for the second straight year, hold its Division II national baseball tournament in Montgomery, Ala., home of Troy State, which won its second national crown this spring.

In the past 20 years, I've observed some questionable actions by the volunteer members of the NCAA in deciding what schools are invited to participate in post-season play and where the tournaments are to be held.

What makes it really funny is where some of the sports decided to hold their annual meetings. The leaders of skiing opted to hold their annual meeting in Florida; the ice hockey mentors decided on San Diego; and the men's Division III basketball moguls got together on Cape Cod, hardly known for its fondness of the hardcourt sport; and lacrosse — an eastern sport — held its annual gathering in Monterey, Calif.

I've written to the NCAA suggesting more care be taken in awarding national championship tournaments. I don't think it is fair for Montgomery, Ala., to be assigned or granted — the Division II baseball tournament every year.

Health, fitness expert has seminar at Renaissance

Jenny Carney, an expert on health and fitness, will present a seminar starting at 2 p.m. July 26 at the Renaissance Fitness Center, 3901 Stearns Ave.

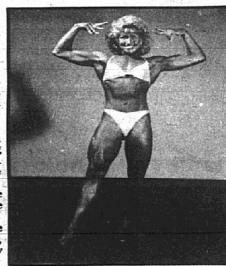

The seminar — lasting between two and three hours — will be for people who are interested in getting involved in fitness, said Skip Olson, general manager of the center. Carney, of Granite City, will talk about the basics of working out, how to start and nutrition. She will also demonstrate the proper techniques for exercising.

Carney, 29, has achieved the title of Miss St. Louis and is the mother of two children.

Many people, Olson said, have a stigma about working out, especially women who feel they will become musclebound.

"You don't wake up one morning and you're musclebound," he said.

The seminar is open to men as well as women. The cost is $3 for Renaissance members and $5 for non-members.
